PRESENTERS

Martin Borchert, Chair of the Executive Committee, Australasian Open Access Strategy Group @openaccess\_anz

Martin Borchert is currently the Chair of the Executive Committee of the Australasian Open Access Strategy Group (AOASG) and Chair of the Board for the Global Sustainability Coalition for Open Science Services (SCOSS), a SPARC Europe initiative. He is also the University Librarian at the University of New South Wales (UNSW Sydney) where he was appointed in 2016.

Tracy Roberts, Journals Global Publishing Director, Taylor & Francis

Tracy's career and expertise span over 20 years in academic publishing. She has been Editorial Director at Taylor & Francis since 2003, and is now the Journals Global Publishing Director of Humanities and Social Sciences at Taylor Francis.

Janet Remmington, Global Portfolio Director, Taylor & Francis
@varioushots

Throughout her career, Janet has worked across the humanities and social sciences, championing their contribution to knowledge and society. She has long worked with societies to further their goals and aspirations and has legacy of successful partnerships with a range of organizations around the world. With an academic background in the humanities, and with publications to her name, she appreciates the dynamics in getting published from a researcher's perspective as well as from a publisher's point of view.

Matt Cannon, Head of Open Research, Taylor & Francis
@mattcannonf

Matt has been at Taylor & Francis for over 12 years in a number of editorial roles across social science and science areas. He is on the publisher advisory board of Center for Open Science and sits on the steering group for the STM Year of Research Data in 2020.
